Editors Constitution: In an article published in THE CONSTITUTION of this morning, the words printed as "certainly these rumors were correct," should have been as written, "certainly these rumors were current."

A Visit to Free Stone Springs, Near Shady Grove.

Editors Constitution: It was the good fortune of your correspondent to visit the above springs some days passed and with your kind indulgence I propose to jot down a few items concerning it.

The springs are located in Merriwether county, about seventy miles from Atlanta, near the palatial residence of Colonel Speer. The scenery around the springs cannot be surpassed by any in Georgia. The air is pure and bracing, and the medical qualities of the water are said to be very fine.

Strange to say the springs are almost unknown, except to the people of Meriwether, but a man of enterprise could soon make them attractive as well as profitable.

Nature certainly has done her share in beautifying one of the loveliest spots in Georgia.

I had the pleasure to meet during my brief stay there the accomplished Miss S. S., the vivacious Miss J. D., the sparkling Miss Q. B., the captivating Miss P. G., all of LaGrange, Ga., who added greatly to my enjoyment.

Let all who seek recreation from the heat and dust of the city go to Free Stone Springs, near Shady Grove, and if they fall in as pleasant company as your correspondent, they will surely feel themselves more than compensated for any trouble they may have undergone. VISITOR.

LIVINGSTONE.

He was always polite—with a politeness of the genuine kind—and this politeness never forsook him for an instant, even in the midst of the most rugged scenes and greatest difficulties.

THE BOOK AND THE BINDING.

Upon my first introduction to him, Livingstone was to me like a huge tome, with a most unpretending binding Within, the book might contain much valuable lore and wisdom, but its exterior gave no promise of what was within. Thus, outside Livingstone gave no token—except of being rudely dealt with by the wilderness—of what element of power or talent lay within He is a man of unpretending appearance enough, has quiet, composed features, from which the freshness of youth has quite departed, but which retains the mobility of prime age just enough to show that there yet lives much endurance and vigor within his frame. The eyes, which are hazel, are remarkably bright, not dimmed in the least, though the whiskers and moustache are very gray. The hair, originally brown, is streaked here and there with gray over the temples, otherwise it might belong to a man of 30. The teeth above show indications of being worn out. The hard fare of Londa and Manyema have made havoc in their ranks. His form is stoutish, a little over the ordinary in height, with slightly-bowed shoulders. When walking he has the heavy step of an overworked and fatigued man. On his head he wears the naval cap, with a round visor, with which he has been identified throughout Africa. His dress shows that at times he has had to resort to the needle to repair and replace what travel has worn. Such is Livingstone externally.

SIMPLE FAITH.

Dr. Livingston is a truly pious man—a man deeply imbued with real religious instincts. The study of the man will not be complete if we did not take the religious side of his character into consideration. His religion, any more than his business, is not of the theoretical kind—simply contenting itself with avowing its peculiar creed and ignoring all other religions as wrong or weak. It is of the truy, practical kind, never losing a chance to manifest itself in a quiet, practical way—never demonstrative or loud. It is always at work, if not in deed, by shining example. It is not aggressive, which sometimes is troublesome and often impertinent. In him religion exhibits its loveliest features. It governs his conduct toward his servants, toward the natives, and toward the bigoted Mussulmans—even all who come in contact with him.

Without religion Livingstone, with his ardent temperament, his enthusiastic nature, his high spirit and courage, might have been an uncompanionable man and a hard master. Religion has tamed all those characteristics; nay, if he was ever possessed of them, they have been thoroughly eradicated. Whatever was crude or wilful religion has refined, and made him to speak the earnest, sober truth, the most agreeable of companions and indulgent of masters.

THE GOSPEL TO THE HEATHEN.

Every Sunday morning he gathers his little flock around him and has prayers read, not in the stereotyped tone of an English High Church clergyman, which always sounds in my ears insincerely, but in the tone recommended by Archbishop Whately—viz: natural, unaffected, and sincere. Following them he delivers a short address in the Kisawahili language about what he has been reading from the bible to them, which is listened to with great attention.

Address of the Chairman of the State Executive Committee.

ATTENTION, DEMOCRATS!

[Official.]

MACON, GA., August 26, 1872.

To the Democratic Party of Georgia:

In compliance with a resolution of the State Executive Committee I purpose addressing you, briefly, upon the perils of the times and the duties of the hour. We are engaged in a great contest, one in which every person who loves constitutional government, who desires a return to the old landmarks of the fathers, who is weary of enforcement acts, of bayonet rule, of the subordination of the civil to the military power of the government, of the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, of the concentration of power in the Federal Executive, who prefers local self-government to the arbitrary rule of party and power, who would quiet sectional wrangling and animosities, who prefers peace to strife, union to discord, country to party, must evidence his faith by his works. It is a contest between the friends of true government and the open enemies of constitutional law and liberty. It is a contest which as it widens and spreads will shake party organizations to their foundations, because it is a contest of the people independent of party associations or requirements. It is a contest for which the true men of the North and the South, the East and the West, are preparing by forgetting the bitter memories of the past, the effete issues of old organizations, and in the spirit of a noble brotherhood and a patriotic liberality are combining to save the government from overthrow and the people from the tyrannies of a centralized despotism. It is a contest which promises peace to the nation, personal liberty to the people, equal rights to the States, good government to all. In this contest we must act our part, we cannot be camp followers, when liberty is at stake and the country is in peril. Every hope of success depends upon the efforts of those engaged in the struggle. In Georgia, the turning point of the conflict depends upon our ability to bring all our forces into the field. To effect a result so desirable there must be a thorough and complete organization in every county in the State. Our electors should visit the people and urge them to action and to duty, and they will nobly respond, for Georgians have never proved recreant to a trust, or false to duty. Upon our sub-electors, most valuable aids and adjuncts, much, very much depends. To them the Executive Committee is hopefully looking for invaluable assistance in county organizations. Let each one feel the individual responsibility of the trust reposed in him, and we shall have a campaign in Georgia, faithful in its labors and glorious in its victories. Our State Government must be maintained for it is the sheet anchor of our hopes. In preserving this we will be the better able to secure a triumph in November following, for our electoral ticket in Georgia. There is apathy in our party—it must be removed, and the people aroused and awakened to the sense of their danger. There is division in our ranks, let us heal it, by kind remonstrances and courteous appeals to the patriotism and magnanimity of "hesitating Democrats."

The party has spoken through its recognized organs, (State and National Conventions) and expects every man to do his duty and accept its action as a proof of its fidelity to the best interest of the country. Personal prejudices should now yield to the overwhelming will of the majority; private regrets and individual preferences should be dropped, and the whole party, proud of its record in the past, of its devotion to Constitutional Government, of its sacred maintenance of the rights of the States, of its holy regard for the personal liberties of the people, should, as a unit, lock shields with the patriotic men of any party who will unite with it in the maintenance of principles so essential to good government, without parleying as to whom their banner is entrusted, or who will lead their forces to victory. It is now time for concert of action among all true men. We are now at sea; the elements are stirred; we hear the wail of the tempest, the roar of the thunder, the rushing of the waters; this is no time for division among the seamen, or mutiny in the crew, because our captain is taken from another craft; let each man to his duty and his post at the pump, the engine or the sail, and follow him as he follows his chart and compass, and we will weather the storm and anchor at last in the port of safety.

Democrats, Liberal Republicans, zealous co-laborers in this work of reconciliation and reform, let us go more actively to our labors; let the slogan of our combined forces be heard in every valley and upon every hill top; let our battle cry, "fraternity, reform and Constitutional Government," cease not, until, in November next, it will be lost in the shouts of a victorious host proclaiming to the downtrodden South universal amnesty, good will, local self-government, and to the whole nation peace, restoration, union.

The Last Resort.

Two young men were overtaken by a squall in Delaware Bay while sailing in a yacht. At Nazareth Methodist church, on Twelfth street, Philadelphia, they had occasionally been present at public worship. From the way things looked, the capsizing of their boat was very near inevitable.

"Bill," said one to the other, "this is a serious business; can you pray?"

"No, I can't; I've heard Joe Quinn do it, and I've listened to Bill Post, but I can't do it myself."

"Well, you can sing a hymn, can't you? For Heaven's sake do something."

"No, I can't sing here. How can I sing when this boat, at any moment, may drown us both?"

"Well, we must do something religious. If you can't pray and can't sing, let's take up a collection."

To this Bill consented. In his companion's hat he deposited thirteen pennies, a corkscrew and a broken bladed knife. As he did this the wind lulled, and the boat made a successful landing.

THE Public Library, OF KENTUCKY.

SECOND GRAND GIFT CONCERT

Day of the Drawing Fixed.

No Postponement from September 28th.

To the Public:

The Trustees of the Public Library of Kentucky, being satisfied from the large sale of tickets already made, and the daily increasing demand for them, that there will be no occasion for postponing the second drawing in the Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky, have instructed me, as their agent and manager of the Gift Concert, to say to the public and ticket-holders that the drawing will positively take place on September 28th, prox., and will not be postponed. An active demand for tickets comes from every State and Territory of the United States, and from the Canadas, giving assurance to the Trustees that no circumstances can prevent a drawing at the appointed time.

A sufficient clerical force is engaged to keep up with the orders for tickets, and in order that this office may be relieved of the immense pressure incident to the business for the week or two immediately preceding the drawing agents especially, and those desirous of procuring tickets, are requested to send in their orders immediately, as sales will have to be closed in time to make the necessary preparations for the drawing. It is the wish of the management to fill every order for a ticket, as well as to sell all the tickets, but those who apply first must first be supplied; and if those who put off buying until sales are closed have their money returned, instead of the tickets ordered, as in the first Gift Concert in December last, when thousands of dollars, that came too late were sent back, they will have none to blame but themselves.

Atlanta Stammering Institution.

THIS INSTITUTION is now permanently located in the city of Atlanta, Georgia, at the National Hotel, under the charge of

of Virginia, so celebrated for the cure of Stammering and Impediment of Speech, Lisping, also, of persons who have lost their speech and speak WITH A WHISPER. This has been a desideratum long felt by all Stammerers.

Certificates from Greensboro, Augusta and Savannah and the principal cities of the United States testify to my remarkable success in the Cure of Stammering, and to the correctness of my method

The cure is permanently effected purely by means of an Art of my own discovery, being a stammerer forty-three years, not through the agency of medicine or instruments.

The time that it takes to effect a radical cure is usually from one to five or ten days, but in some cases it requires a little longer time.

My terms are reasonable, depending upon the ability of the patient to pay.

I guarantee a cure in all cases where no malformation of the lungs exists. The patient, of course, must be present

Ladies and children will be treated in a separate departments if desired.

Sterling's Southern Series
—OF—
Readers, Orators & Copy Books.

THE undersigned now own the plates of this POPULAR SERIES; and as they are the only Purely Southern School Books offered in the market, we submit that it is to the interest of Teachers to patronize them. Send for circulars of Special Terms to Teachers—VERY LIBERAL. Specimen copies sent free for examination.

Prof. Orr, the Superintendent of Education for Georgia, says of them:

Messrs. J. W. Burke & Co., Macon, Ga.—GENTLEMEN: I have given to the Sterling Series of School Books, which you have had the kindness to leave with me, such examination as the limited amount of leisure at my command has allowed. With several books of the series I was already familiar, having added greatly to the interest of several public exhibitions, while engaged in active school work, by selections from their pages. While there ought not to be anything offensively sectional in our school literature, I must be allowed to say that it is with feelings of both pleasure and pride that I find in the pages of these books so liberal a recognition of Southern talent. I am glad, too, to learn that their publication is to be transferred to our own State. Southern independence will be soonest achieved by producing, as far as possible, every necessary for the supply of all our wants, both material and mental, upon our own soil. I will only add that I would be pleased to see the books extensively used.

Respectfully yours,
GUSTAVUS J. ORR,
State School Commissioner.

☞ A party at Rome, is being arranged to go to the great Peace Greeley Re-union at Louisville, Kentucky, on the 12th and 13th.

Alabama.

We published yesterday an extract from the stirring address of the Chairman of the State Executive Committee of the Democratic party to the people. Mr. Robert Tyler, son of ex-President Tyler, and present editor of the Montgomery Advertiser, is a stirring leader, and is getting up a lively canvass.

Eclectic Magazine.

The September number of this excellent Magazine has been received. The Luther of a new Reformation, as he is sometimes called, the German Theologian, Dr. Dollinger will be recognized in the fine steel portrait with which the number is embellished. The present number contains an attractive variety of entertaining literature. Published by E. R. Pelton, 108 Fulton street, New York. Terms, $5 a year.

Agricultural and Mechanical Association of Georgia.

The premium list for the second exposition of the above Association to be held in the city of Savannah, during the week commencing on the second day of next December, has been received from Mr. J. H. Estill, Secretary. A glance through its pages indicates that the approaching exhibition will possess unusual interest.

The Premium List makes a nice pamphlet of sixty pages, and its neat typographical appearance highly commends the Morning News job office, from which establishment it was issued.

Andrew Johnson.

There are some men who seem to be born leaders of the people. Andy Johnson is one of them. Rude, massive, powerful, springing from the people and remembering it, grasping their needs and clutching their feelings by reason of his origin and struggles, playing with a master hand upon their prejudices and longings, Andrew Johnson has lived conspicuously and prominently. He is to-day as remarkable a people's leader as we have in the country's broad range.

His power has been curiously exemplified. In Nashville, on the night of the 24th, an immense popular gathering assembled as if by magic. A huge procession was formed and took Johnson in. Thousands upon thousands thronged the streets. The excitement was tumultuous. He was nominated by the popular voice for Congressman at large, and accepted in a two hours speech. His talk was typical of the man, bold, aggressive, egotistical, caustic, somewhat incoherent, but able, ringing, tremendously effective and enthusing, and directed at popular abuses, that made it practical.

He inveighed with crushing invective against caucus tyranny and ring despotism.

Johnson is going to stump the State, and has invited discusion.

Colonel John B. Walker.

The Savannah News thus speaks of the pithy pointed letter of Col. John B. Walker, of Madison Ga., published in THE CONSTITUTION declining the appointment of delegate to Louisville by the "straight" convention.

"We commend this frank and manly letter to the thoughtful consideration of our straight-out Democratic friends throughout the State. Colonel Walker is an old and honorable citizen of Morgan county, a Democrat of the straightest sect, who thoroughly comprehends and appreciates the present political situation. In view of the existing "emergency" he illustrates by his own example the duty of all true Democrats who would rescue the South from the "retributions of an implacable hatred and tyranny," and save the country from "a continued corrupt Administration."

In his brief letter he comprises the whole argument, and thoroughly vindicates the policy which governs his course. Columns would fail to state the practical, pregnant issue of the hour more clearly and forcibly than he has comprised it in his brief letter. We implore our straight-out Democratic friends to ponder well what he says, before they irrevocably commit themselves to a course which promises not one ray of hope, but must, if persisted in, be productive of irreparable evil."

Abandonment of Principle.

Do our "Straight" friends for a moment doubt that if the large masses of the Democratic party that support Horace Greeley thought that such a support involved abandonment of principle, they would not refuse such support, let the results be as they might? To have such doubt would be to deny to these masses the honesty that alone can make a people great and free, and worthy of constitutional liberty.

Well, when these masses deliberately determine that such a course does not abandon principle, but secures it, is not their opinion entitled to respect, and should not that opinion rather prevail and be allowed to work out its programme, than the dissent of a small minority? Is this not a courtesy and a justice due to the gallant friends of constitutional government?

The fullest discussion was unable to prevent the adoption of the policy of supporting Greeley. Opposition will be now unable to change the policy, and could not if it would. To change at this hour would be fatal. It would demoralize the Democracy beyond recovery. As soon recall the bullet that is speeding to its aim from the rifle's mouth, as put this movement back where a new programme could be started, and succeed. It is too late to alter the plan of battle. Every movement not on the enemy is the badge of defeat. The die is cast. The order of battle is irrevocable. All strategy not with us is against us, and in the aid of the foe.

Democratic brethren, let us get all the good we can out of the unchangeable alignment of the constitutional army. Let us be together now as in the past, united, harmonious, determined to conquer or fall TOGETHER.

Try Again, Brother Sun.

It is very comical how our "straight" neighbor the Sun twists every thing into a "straight" victory. The most incongruous occurrences are pounced upon by this credulous paper, and boldly claimed as evidences of the growth of the straight cause. The dogmatic positiveness with which all sorts of results are asserted to be a "straight" triumph is absolutely funny. Where ever an incident pokes up whose character is doubtful, our relentless and enterprising contemporary lights on it like a duck on June bug, and exultingly yells "straight." We verily believe if Victoria Woodhull was to have a feminine heir, our neighbor would clamor that it was a "straight" and deliriously point to it as the beginning of a ground swell on the "straight" line.

Whoa, neighbor!

The other morning the Sun claimed that Jacobs, the independent Democratic candidate in West Virginia, who is probably elected, is a "straight." What it based its statement upon we know not, unless on the general principle that a bolter must necessarily be a "straight." Anyhow it went it blind, and predicated, upon the supposed "straightness" of the successful Jacobs, a very interesting and instructive homily upon the inevitable damage of supporting Greeley.

Unfortunately for our neighbor, he didn't look closely enough. The very fact that the candidates were in the field before the Baltimore Convention nominated Greeley, shows that the issue was not made up and run on Greeley.

We find in the New York papers of the 24th the following reported by the National Democratic Executive Committee, which settles the matter definitely, and leaves our neighbor stranded:

"Among the letters received was one from ex-Governor Randolph, of New Jersey, now in West Virginia, in which he states that 'Governor Jacob, the independent candidate for Governor, and who is probably elected, personally pledged himself unreserved to favor the election of Greeley and Brown.'"

Colonel I. W. Avery.

We have received, and mislaid, a communication, recommending Colonel I. W. Avery, editor of the THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, as a proper man to represent this Congressional District in Congress. The communication referred to the gentleman's services in the war—his gallantry and faithfullness; and since the war to his services as editor of a leading Democratic paper. That Colonel Avery did gallant service on the field, and that he is a gentleman of ability and worth, we acknowledge; and that he has done yeoman service for the Democracy, is admitted by the majority of our people, although we have not always agreed with him; but we have never doubted his integrity. He is a high-toned, honorable man, and we infinitely prefer him to many gentlemen whose names are suggested. The Hon. A. D. Nunnally, we believe, has the first claim for the place, and his qualifications to fill the office nobody doubts—we expect to support him.

We regret that the communication was lost, as we would cheerfully give Colonel Avery a fair showing in our columns.—Griffin News.

Letter from Judge Floyd—Declines To Be a Delegate to the Louisville Convention—He Can Have Nothing To Do With the Straight Movement, and Strongly Deprecates It.

COVINGTON, August 26, 1872.

Editors Constitution: I see in the published proceedings of the convention of the Jeffersonian Democracy held in the city of Atlanta on the 20th instant, that I was appointed one of the alternate delegates from the State at large to a convention of that party soon to be holden at Louisville, Kentucky. I deem it due to my friends whose partiality conferred that position upon me, to say that I cannot accept it, not because I do not heartily concur in each and every principle which that convention has adopted, nor because I do not sympathize with them in the feeling which prompted them to act, but because I believe it is too late now to attempt to organize a straight-out Democratic ticket for President and Vice President, with any hope of success, either directly or indirectly. Indeed, I believe it will be difficult to find men of sufficient capacity and political prominence to justify their nomination for the Presidency and Vice Presidency who would willingly submit to the chances of defeat in the course now suggested, and the movement would probably result in the defeat of Mr. Greeley and the re-election of General Grant. I fear that evil and only evil be the result. Unity, not discord, is what the States of the South want to bring them back into position and strength in our Federal relations, and prosperity and happiness to our people at home.

No matter how much personally I may have disapproved of the action of the Baltimore Convention, I am not willing now to assist in a movement which will inevitably produce division among us, and can do no good.

For some time past the approaching Presidential election has been regarded by many good and great men as likely to affect the perpetuity of our form of government, either for good or evil, and in this view the Democratic party of the United States in every State was careful to secure the services of her ablest statesmen as delegates to the Baltimore Convention, that they might take counsel together. That convention has met and acted, and although my own personal opinions may have differed (as they certainly did) widely from the conclusions of the combined wisdom of that convention—yet I am not willing to lay down across the path which they have marked out, or to do aught that may hinder their success.

DECISIONS OF THE
SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA.

Delivered in Atlanta, Tuesday, August 27, 1872

[REPORTED EXPRESSLY FOR THE CONSTITUTION BY HENRY JACKSON, SUPREME COURT REPORTER.]

The Central Railroad and Banking Company vs. Lewis Grant and Patrick O'Hara. Case, from Bibb.

WARNER, C. J.

This was an action brought by the plaintiffs against the defendants to recover damages for injuries done to them by the running of the cars of defendant under section 2979 of the Code. It appears from the evidence in the record that the defendant made a contract with one Names to fill up an embankment in East Macon for twenty cents per yard, the defendants to furnish track, trestle, cars, mules and driver. Names employed the plaintiffs to work on the embankment. The mules, car and driver were under the immediate control and direction of Names, the contractor, and while operating the same for the purpose of filling up the trestle with dirt, the car on which the plaintiffs were, ran off, and the plaintiffs thereby were injured. On the trial the jury found a verdict for the plaintiffs. A motion was made for a new trial, which was overruled, and the defendant excepted. In our judgment, under the law defining the liability of the defendant as a railroad corporation or company for damage done to persons by the running of the locomotives or cars or other machinery of such company, the defendant was not liable in damages to the plaintiffs for the injury received by them, on the statement of facts contained in the record. The plaintiffs were in the employ of Names, the contractor, under his supervision and direction in the use and management of the mules, car, and driver. The fact that the defendant furnished the mules, car, driver and trestle under the contract with Names to construct the embankment, did not make it liable for the negligence or carelessness of Names in operating and managing the same in the performance of his contract. The defendant was not running its cars within the meaning of the law, defining its liability, therefore, when the injury was done, to the plaintiffs; but Names was running the car in the performance of his contract, made with the defendant in the construction of the defendant's railroad, so that the defendant might run his cars thereon under his own control and direction, and then, the defendant would be liable for damage done to persons by the running of its locomotives, cars, or other machinery thereon, unless it was made to appear that the company had exercised all ordinary and reasonable care and diligence.

Let the judgment of the Court below be reversed.

W. K. DeGraffenreid, Lyon & Irwin, and A. R. Lawton for plaintiff in error.

Whittle & Gustin, and A. O. Bacon for defendant in error.

Wm. M. Lindsay, by his guardian, H. D. Lindsay, vs. The Central Railroad and Banking Company. Case, from Bibb.

WARNER, C. J.

This was action brought by the plaintiff against the defendant to recover damages for injuries done to the plaintiff by the defendant in running his cars on his road, and forcibly ejecting the plaintiff therefrom. It appears from the evidence in the record that, in the year 1864, the defendant's passenger railroad train was backing slowly into the passenger depot at Macon when the plaintiff, who was about ten years old, got on the platform of the second car from the rear car when the train was some forty steps from the depot, that in a moment or two a negro man emerged from the car on the platform on which the plaintiff was standing and asked him what he was doing there; plaintiff replied, "is that anything to you?" The negro said yes, I have charge of this car, and told plaintiff he must get off; plaintiff told him he would not, and the negro began to shove him off; plaintiff resisted, but the negro succeeded in pushing him off, and he fell between the cars, was caught on the track and badly injured and maimed by the wheels; did not know the negro who pushed him off, never saw him before and has never seen him since; did not know whether he was a mulatto or black; does not know that he was an employee of the company, except from the way in which he acted, and what he said. The father of the plaintiff testified, "that he was frequently on the railroad about the depot during the time testified about, is acquainted with the habits and customs of the Central Railroad in backing from East Macon to passenger depot, that it was their custom to allow no one but employees on the train, and to keep the cars locked until ready to receive passengers, and their rules were particularly stringent in the then condition of the country. It may be that some persons did sometimes get on the train at East Macon, and cross the river on the cars." This is all the evidence going to show the negro who pushed the plaintiff off the car was the employee or servant of the company. The defendant, as a railroad company, is liable under the law, for any damage done to persons, by the running of their locomotives, cars, or other machinery of their company, or for damage done by any person in the employment and service of such company, unless the company shall make it appear that their agents have exercised all ordinary and reasonable care and diligence—the presumption in all cases being against the company, and the question is, whether the evidence in the record is sufficient, under the law, to make a prima facia case of liability against the defendant for the injury complained of?

The solution of that question depends entirely whether there is any competent legal evidence to establish the fact that the negro, who pushed the plaintiff off the defendants train, was their employee or servant at the time the act was done. By the common law, if a servant, by his negligence, does any damage to a stranger, the master shall answer for his neglect; but the damage must be done whilst he is actually employed in his master's service: otherwise, the servant shall answer for his own misbehavior.

By our law, every person is liable for acts committed by his servant, either by his command, or in the prosecution and within the scope of his business, whether the same be by negligence, or voluntary. The employer is not responsible for torts committed by his employee when the latter exercises an independent business, and, in it, is not subject to the immediate direction and control of the employer.—Code 2910–2911.

To make the railroad company liable in this case, there must be some competent legal evidence that the negro who done the injury to the plaintiff on their train was in the employ of the company as their servant. The mere fact that he emerged from the car, and said I have charge of this car, and pushed the plaintiff off, was not sufficient competent legal evidence to prove that he was the servant of the company; he might have been there without authority, in the same manner as the plaintiff was on the platform of the car, his declarations and acts on that occasion, without more, does not, in contemplation of the law, establish the relation of master and servant so as to make the defendant liable for his conduct. The fact that it was the custom of the company to keep their cars locked, and to allow no one but employees on their trains when backing down to the passenger depot does not help the matter, especially as there is no evidence that the negro unlocked the car from which he emerged, and that persons might sometimes get on the train at east Macon and cross the river on the cars. The mere declarations and acts of the negro, unless brought to the knowledge of the company or to their agents who had charge of their train at the time, is not sufficient under the law, to make the company liable for his acts as their servant, the relation of master and servant must first be established by competent legal evidence to make the company responsible for his conduct. There is no evidence that the negro was ever in the employ of the company before the injury was done, a most significant omission, if indeed, he was their servant at that time. If it had been shown that the negro had possession of the keys of the cars of the train, or had unlocked the car from which he emerged, or was cleaning out the cars, or doing other acts for the benefit of the company with the knowledge of the defendants' agents who had control of the train at the time, that would have furnished some evidence from which the law would imply that he was an employee and servant of the company, but to hold the company responsible for his acts as their servant, or to allow a jury to do so under the evidence contained in this record would be to establish a dangerous precedent which we are unwilling to sanction. We, therefore, affirm the judgment of the court below on this point made in the case, but express no opinion in relation to the statute of limitations.

Let the judgment of the Court below be affirmed.

McCAY, J.

A certiorary does not lie, to correct the errors of a Justice of the Peace, in a judgment involving questions of fact, when the amount of the judgment is over fifty dollars. In such cases the remedy is by appeal, as provided by the Constitution of 1868.

James H. Everett vs. The Southern Express Company. New trial, from Bibb.

McCAY, J.

Where an action was pending on a contract made before the first of June, 1865, and no tax affidavit of taxes paid was made as required by the Act of October 13, 1870, and no motion was made to dismiss for such failure, and a trial was had on the merits, it is too late after a verdict for the plaintiff to move for a new trial on the ground that no affidavit was filed, and no proof given on the trial as to the payment of taxes.

The failure to make a motion to dismiss is an implied consent that the case does not come within the Act.

When a motion is made for a new trial on several grounds and the Court grants the new trial on one of the grounds overruling the other grounds and a bill of exceptions is filed to his judgment, this Court will inquire if the judgment be right in granting the new trial, and if that be right on any of the grounds taken in the motion, this court will affirm the judgment, notwithstanding the Court below may have erred in the ground on which he placed the judgment.

When one sent to an Express company by a small negro boy, a slave, for [illegible] by the company to a distant p[illegible] paper box, 3 by 4 inches in size, [illegible] string, which box contained a [illegible] mond breast-pin, worth $50, an[illegible] was given to the company of the v[illegible] box and its contents, and the box, when delivered by the Express company to the consignee, did not contain the pin.

HELD, That under the failure to notify the company of the value of the box was, under the circumstances, a fraud upon the Express company, and a verdict for the plaintiff, against the company ought to be set aside as contrary to law.

Judgment affirmed.

W. K. deGraffenried and R. H. Clark, for plaintiff in error.

Nisbets and Jackson, contra.

The Mayor and Council of Macon vs. Henry Cummings, et al. Motion to remove cause to United States Court from Bibb.

McCAY, J.

The city of Macon filed a bill against A, B, C, D, and others as agents and officers of a pretended corporation, alleged to be incorporated under the laws of New York for the purpose of carrying on business in Georgia. The bill was filed in the Superior Court of Bibb county, and charged that two of the persons sued resided in Georgia, and the others in the State of the New York. The bill charged that the city had, through the management of the individuals named, been fraudulently induced to make a deed of certain property to the corporation on certain terms and conditions which had been broken. The bill also charged that the charter of the company was void, as in conflict with the sovereignty of this State, and prayed that the deed might be cancelled and the property redelivered to the city. The bill also alleged that certain claims and liens existed against the property, contracted by the company or its agents, which were in dispute, and prayed that the amount of said claims might be ascertained and settled in the decree.

Before any trial the company, by its President, came into Court, filed the usual affidavit and gave a proper bond, and petitioned that the case be removed to the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of Georgia. This petition the Court granted, and the complainant accepted.

HELD, That the company was in effect a party to the bill and having appeared and made the motion to remove, it was not error in the Court below to grant the same.

HELD, 2d. That all the issues between the city and the company can be fully disposed of without the presence of any of the citizens of Georgia except the city.

HELD, 3d. That the question as to the validity of the charter is one of the issues made by the bill in which the company is the party at interest, and having followed the act of Congress in making the affidavit and giving the bond, the State Court is not authorized to proceed further to try the issue, that question with the others made by the bill is returned to the Circuit Court.

No question having been made in the Court below as to the power of the Superior Court to pass an order in the premises this Court does not decide it.

E. W. Crocker, Solicitor General, Samuel Hall and R. W. Jemison, by G. W. Gustin, contra.

Gabriel B. Roberts vs. Sally Summers, et al, Equity, from Bibb.

MONTGOMERY, J.

1. On the trial before a jury, of exceptions to an Auditor's report, the report is prima facie true as to the facts and results reported. The fact that the rule of reference provides that any exceptions filed were to be tried de novo, as in cases of appeal, does not vary the rule.

2. It is not sufficient to except generally to an Auditor's report, in matters of account referred to him, as erroneous in the results at which he arrives. The exception should point out wherein the error consists.

3. In Georgia, on the trial by a jury of exceptions to an Auditor's report, evidence, other than that laid before the Auditor, is admissible.

4. It is not a devastavix on the part of an administrator who has obtained an injunction preventing the distributees of the estate from suing him, to settle in Confederate funds belonging to the estate, with certain of the distributees who are willing to and do accept such funds at par in payment of their distributive shares, and fail to settle with others who make no demand on him till after the war; provided he retain a sufficient amount of similar assets to settle with the others, even though such assets afterwards perish on his hand without fault on his part.

5. Where one of the matters in controversy between an administrator and the distributees of his intestate is whether the delay in the settlement of the estate, and the losses consequent upon said delay, resulted from the failure of the administrator to comply strictly with the provisions of the law, and that, with other matters, is referred to an auditor, who, as to that, reports in favor of the administrator, and the distributees file no exceptions to the report, it is error in the Court, by his charge, to submit that issue to a jury impannelled to try certain exceptions filed by the administrator to other parts of the report.

5. If the auditor allowed an investment by the administrator of $24,000 in Confederate State securities as correct, to which the administrtor filed no exceptions, the jury may still take such investment into consideration, if it will aid them in arriving at a correct result as to any of the exceptions filed.

6. It is error in the Court to charge the jury, where the estate is not ready to be distributed, that "it was the duty of the administrator to put the solvent notes of the estate in suit within a reasonable time after they became due, and if he did not do so within a reasonable time, and the debts were lost, then he is responsible for such loss," without qualifying such charge by adding if the notes were lost by reason of such failure to sue.

8. If an administrator send Confederate money, belonging to the estate, to one of the distributees of his intestate by a person not authorized by such distributee to receive it, and the distributee refuse to accept it, but the person receiving it fails to return it to the administrator, the latter is chargeable with the true value of the money at the time it was sent, and not with its nominal value, where it does not appear the administrator received it improperly in payment of a debt due the estate.

9. An administrator is bound to use the utmost diligence to secure debts due the estate. Hence, if the makers of notes, belonging to the estate, solvent at the making of the notes and for some time afterwards, become suddenly insolvent, it is his duty to put the notes promptly in suit, when there is any reasonable prospect of securing their payment by so doing.

10. When an administrator sues a note belonging to the estate, the makers of which are solvent at the time suit is brought, which suit is enjoined by one of the makers, and remains so until all the makers become insolvent, and no laches is properly chargeable upon the administrator, the latter is not liable to make good the loss to the estate.

Judgment reversed.

Whittle & Gustin, Poe, Hall & Poe and Nisbets & Jackson for defendants in error.

The Manufacturers' Bank of Macon vs. Henry J. Lamar. Assumpsit, from Bibb.

MONTGOMERY, J.

1. Where a holder of bank bills issued before June, 1865, gives them in regularly at what he swears on the trial he was willing to sell them at, and pays the taxes due on that valuation, there being no contradictory evidence of the value of the bills, it is a sufficient compliance with the Relief Act of 1870.

2. A State Bank, not specially authorized by its charter to do so, could not, in 1862, issue any of its bills intended to be used as money redeemable otherwise than with gold or silver coin. Where it did issue bills at that date, in the usual form, it is inadmissible in a suit on them by a bona fide holder, who did not receive them from the bank, but purchased them from others, to prove that they were intended by the bank to be payable in Confederate currency, and were so understood by the community in which the bank was located. The ordinance of 1865 does not apply to such contracts.

2. To discharge a surety on account of extension of time by the creditor to the principal debtor there must not only be an agreement for the extension, but the indulgence must be for a definite period.

3. The dismissal of a possessory warrant for cotton, (upon failure to find it in the possession or control of the warehouseman with whom it was deposited and against whom the warrant issued,) by the drawee of a draft, who held the warehousemen's receipts for the cotton as collateral security for the payment of the draft, and at whose instance the warrant issued, does not discharge the accommodation drawer, even though the warehousemen were the acceptors of the draft, and the draft on its face directed the cotton to be sold and the proceeds applied to its payment.

PORT AU PRINCE, JAMAICA, August 27.—A letter to the Herald states that the American consul Teel has been arrested by the Haytien authorities at Maragon, on the charge of having counterfeit paper currency of that Republic. He is now in the filthy prison. Minister Bassett has twice demanded his release and has been peremptorily refused.

MADRID, SPAIN, August 27.—The Imparcial newspaper says the returns thus far received of the election for members of the Cortes, held on Saturday last, shows that 170 Radicals, 64 Federals, 10 Conservatives, 4 Independents, and 3 Carlists have been chosen.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., August 27.—The executive committee of the Peoples' Committee of one hundred have rejected the proposition to compromise the controversy with the Central Pacific Railroad Company, giving the latter a subsidy to build the Ravenswood bridge, on condition of the abandonment of the Goat Island project. The committee recommend this instead of the construction of a new road between San Francisco and the Mississippi Valley in competition with the Central Pacific.

Over two thousand citizens have subscribed an aggregate of two million and a half dollars towards the capital stock of the proposed Atlantic and Pacific Road from St. Louis to San Francisco via the 35th parallel. This popular subscription foreshadows the success of the application to the city for a loan of $10,000,000 in bonds to the same company in return for its equivalent in preferred stock, by a vote of the people at the November election. The San Francisco and Colorado Company, a rival to both the Central Pacific and Atlantic and Pacific Companies, also applied to the Board of Supervisors last night for aid to the extent of $10,000,000 of absolute subsidy without a return in bonds or stock.

NEW YORK, August 27.—The Evening Express has enlarged its form by an addition of one column to each page, and appears in new type.

COLUMBIA, S. C., August 27.—The State Democratic Committee has adopted resolutions advising no Democratic ticket; denouncing the frauds and corruptions of the State government; demanding the Republicans to fulfill their pledges of reform; and advised perfect county organizations for local purposes.

GENEVA, August 27.—There is every reason to believe that the arbitrators have settled in principle the question of indemnity, and have fixed approximately the amount to be awarded for vessels destroyed by Confederate cruisers. It is probable that the total amount of damages awarded the United States will be between three and four millions sterling.

There is no dependence to be placed in reports which represent the amount above or below these extremes. Some further claims remain to be settled. The question of payment of interest on sums awarded, which has not been approached yet, will be considered on Thursday.

COL. W. L. CALHOUN is announced as a candidate for the Legislature. Should he be elected he will reflect honor upon his constituents.

W. L. SCRUGGS, U. S. Assessor, will sell for the Government to-morrow, a lot of office furniture, by order of the Secretary of the Treasury.

REMOVED.—Messrs. Tommey, Stewart & Beck have removed their wholesale hardware store to the corner of Decatur and Pryor streets, in the Republic Block.

MORE AMUSEMENT.—Next week the Atlanta Histrionic Society will give a representation of the Golden Farmer. A rich treat may be expected. "Vell, vot of it."

EXPOSITION TICKETS.—Round trip excursion tickets will be sold at Atlanta, Cartersville, Kingston and Dalton at one fare to the Cincinnati and Louisville Expositions, by the State Road. This offers a strong inducement to attend these expositions.

THE WEATHER.—The following is the state of the thermometer, yesterday, as kept by H. C. Pope, Druggist: 8, A. M., 78; 10, A. M., 86; 12, M., 88; 2, P. M., 9?; 4, P. M., 88; 6, P. M., 83.

LOSS OF A RESOLUTION.—We learn that the resolution authorizing the Governor to return to the private depositors in the Georgia National Bank their deposits cannot be found. How and in what manner it disappeared remains to be disclosed.

WE are requested by a number of the police force to state that they never promised, or expected to pay any money, or any other consideration to any member of the Legislature to get through what is termed the Police Prolongation bill.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The Public Schools of this city will be reopened on next Monday at 9 o'clock A. M. Scholars will reassemble at the school in which they were at the close of last term. Promotions will be announced on the first day of school.

The teachers meet at the hall of the Girls' High School at 9 o'clock A. M. on Saturday next.

GEORGIA PRESS CONVENTION.—President Estill, of Savannah, has called a meeting of the Georgia Press Convention to meet in this city on the 5th of September. We trust that there will be a full attendance as questions of vital importance will be brought before the Convention at this called meeting.

THE Managers of the tableau entertainment at the Kimball House on the night of the 23d inst., return their grateful thanks to Mr. Crittenden for the gratuitous use of hall, music and gas; to Mr. Morgan for his efficient and tasteful management of the stage; and to Mr. Herbst for kind assistance rendered.

GAY, MCCLESKY & CO.—We invite attention to the card of the above firm. They have purchased the dry goods store of E. H. Gay & Son, on Peachtree street. The store is a handsome three-story brick just erected. W. T. McClesky has been with Messrs. Gay & Son four years and W. S. Gramlin with Silvey & Dougherty for six years. We commend them to the liberal patronage of the public.

SAD INTELLIGENCE.—With heartfelt regret the writer learns that a dear friend, and Christian gentleman, the Rev. Father O'Reilly is lying at the point of death at one of the watering places in Virginia.

His fine, genial, intelligent face will be sadly missed by an affectionate congregation, as it will also be by those of our citizens who enjoyed the privilege of an intimate acquaintance with him, but his friends have the consolation of knowing that a crown, brighter than any earthly diadem, awaits him in the home of the blest. J. K.

FINE SLEEPING CAR.—The finest sleeping car in the United States was in the city last night. It is called the "State of Georgia," and cost Governor Bullock $17,000. It is supplied with a patent heater, the heat being communicated by steam pipes throughout the car. The sleeping apartments and interior arrangements have been refitted in superb style. The Southern Company have now six cars in the shops undergoing repairs, and in another month will have them all running.

REVIVAL.—A gracious revival is in progress in St. Paul's Methodist Church, on Hunter street. It began two weeks ago with the week of prayer, and up to this time thirty-five have joined the church, and the altar is still crowded with penitents. Rev. G. H. Pattillo has been pastor of this church not quite two years, during which time he has built them a handsome church edifice and received 187 members into the church—109 on profession of faith.

SOUTHERN FREIGHT & PASSENGER ROUTE. We direct special attention to the advertisement of the Great Southern Freight and Passenger Line via Savannah. First class steamships sail from New York and Savannah every Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday. Anticipating a great increase of business in consequence of their greatly reduced rates they have additional steamers ready to put on the route and form a daily line. Excursion passage tickets to New York and return, meals and state rooms on the steamers included, are sold for $45. George A. McCleskey is the special agent of the New York and Savannah Steamship Company.

SKETCHES.—The graphic pencil of the inimitable Mat O'Brien, of the Southern Express Company, is at work. At Phillips & Crew's he has on exhibition two fine sketches. One represents Grant in a stupid state backed by bayonets and with his sword run through a body labeled "Habeas Corpus," while on the other hand may be seen the Farmer of Chappaqua surrounded by all the evidences of peace and prosperity. At the bottom appears the interrogation: Which do you prefer?

Another sketch is entitled "what is a poor policeman to do?"

Nast is no where along side of O'Brien.

ADMITTED TO THE BAR.—During the sitting of the Superior Court last Monday, Mr. Howell C. Glenn, of this city, was admitted to the bar to practice law. He was admitted on the presentation of his diploma which he received from the State University Law School at Athens, which, in conjunction with other collegiate studies, he has been pursuing the study of law.

He is a young man of acknowledged talent as a speaker, declaimer and debater, having been elected as the representative of his Society (Phi Kappa) in public debates on several occasions, and also having received the second prize for declamation while in the State University.

COLD WATER TEMPLARS.—The second anniversary of Wenona Cold Water Temple came off at James' Hall last night. The Hall was densely packed. Every seat and standing place was occupied. The exercises were highly interesting, and each one performed his part well.

ATLANTA MINERAL SPRING CURES.—Mr. Sanders: I had been suffering for five years with a very severe case of Dyspepsia. I commenced using the water of the Atlanta Mineral Springs—felt the beneficial effects of the water, and was entirely cured after its use twice a day for two months. I hereby recommend it to all afflicted as I was.
Yours, etc., JAS. STEWART,
Coweta County, Georgia.

Mr. Sanders: From long illness I was reduced to a skeleton—was generally debilitated—had no appetite, etc. I commenced using the Atlanta Mineral Spring water, and in less than a week commenced to improve; my appetite became better than ever; could eat and digest any kind of food, and soon gained flesh at the rate of three-fourths of a pound daily. J. M. MOORE, M. D.,
Houston County, Georgia.

Mr. Sanders: I can and do cordially recommend the Atlanta Mineral Spring water for the cure of Rheumatism. It is well to use it in bathing as well as drinking. I had had the disease for years and suffered excruciatingly, and was entirely cured by this water, while every other remedy, that I had used, failed to do me any permanent good.
Yours truly, J. M. MCCARTHY.

"THEY SAY."

The author of this poem is unknown to us. It is worth reading. The writer has doubtless suffered, from the class to whom it refers, "Gossips and Scandal Mongers, the Stinging Adder, Hissing Serpents, and Poisoned Scorpions, of our social system." We shun one of those infamous wretches as we would the devil. Parents and guardians keep your children from the society of these moral assassins, as you would from a Leper, whose breath is polution, and touch is death. *

THEY SAY.

They say—Ah! well, suppose they do?
But can they prove the story true?
Suspicion may arise from naught
But malice, envy, want of thought;
Why count yourself amoung the "they"
Who whisper what they dare not say?

They say—but why the tale rehearse,
And help to make the matter worse?
No good can possibly accrue
From telling what may be untrue?
And is it not a nobler plan
To speak of all the best you can?

They say—well, if it should be so,
Why need you tell the tale of woe?
Will it the bitter wrong redress,
Or make one pang of sorrow less?
Will it the erring one restore,
Henceforth to "go and sin no more?"

They—oh! pause and look within!
See how thy heart inclines to sin!
Watch lest, in dark temptation's hour
Thou, too, shouldst sink beneath its power!
Pity the frail, weep o'er their fall,
But speak of good or not at all?

CHANGING SEX.

A Strange History—Two School Girl Friends—One of Them Married, Has a Child, Turns into a Man, is Divorced, and Marries the Other.

From the St. Louis Democrat.]

Whenever a newspaper man has anything unusual to write about, he invariably commences by the remark—true, though somewhat trite—that "truth is stranger than fiction." In giving his story to-day, the Democrat reporter does not follow this time-worn example, but by due breach honors it more than he would by observance.

The story which it is his to tell is a singular one, but perfectly true. It was narrated to him at Burlington, Iowa, during a recent visit, and it was there that an opportunity was afforded him of seeing the parties whom it affects. There have been three or four similiar cases recorded, but so rarely has a change of sex been carefully observed and accurately noted that the present case derives a largely increased interest.

Some fifteen years ago, at one of the principal seminaries in Ohio were two beautiful and accomplished young ladies, whom circumstances threw unusually close together. They became like the friends in Shakespeare, growing on one stem." They studied together, being in the same class, roomed together, ate slate pencils together, and, in their nocturnal envelopes sat at their room window to gaze upon the moonlight and the tom-cats, who gently slept on the adjoining roof. In course of time they graduated, and each went to her home. But their friendship was not impaired by distance, and the national revenue was considerably increased by the postage on daily letters from each to the other, full of affection and not crossed more than twice. In 1863, one of them became acquainted with a gallant soldier from Iowa, holding the rank of Colonel, who had distinguished himself during the war. A brief acquaintance, formed during his furlough, soon ripened into love, and finally culminated in a happy marriage. For two years they lived together, and under their roof no guest save happiness seemed to have been admitted. One child, the idol of its parents, was born to them. Toward the end of 1865, however, people began to notice that Mrs. —— had damaged considerably in appearance. Her voice, once soft and silvery, had now a genuine masculine ring. Her hands seemed no longer under their weight of rings, but large and bony. An indescribable change in her walk was apparent, and at last a luxuriant beard forced its way upon her face. It was painfully evident that her sex was changing. Physicians and surgeons were called in, and all were astonished, but none could prevent nature from carrying out her strange freak. The unfortunate wife, almost broken-hearted, begged of her husband to apply for a divorce. He applied for it and it was granted. Mrs. ——, and pannier, which were hardly compatible with the beard, gave up her feminine accomplishments and pursuits, forsook the sewing machine, treated talking as a lost art, and earned her way by giving music lessons on the piano. Of music she had always been very fond, and her rare accomplishments now stood her in good stead.

"A DOUBLE CHERRY

SMALL AND FRAGILE,

THROWING OFF THE PETTICOAT

Through all this time, even when parted from her husband, she had been in correspondence with her faithful friend and schoolmate of years before. The change which caused husband and friends to forsake her, had no effect upon the faithful heart of her girl friend. And now comes the strangest part of this truthful and wonderful story. The school girls of ten years ago are now

MAN AND WIFE.

When Mrs. —— developed into Mr. ——, she naturally turned for consolation and friendship to her old friend, and talked love, not as the school-girl, but as the man. In her new character she won again the heart which was already hers. They were bertothed and married, and now live together happily in the State of Iowa, prosperous in business, and highly respected by all who know them. As a matter of course, the names of the parties are withheld, on account of the prominent positions they hold in society, and to shield them from the curious gaze of all who visit their city. A correspondent of the Democrat, while traveling there, heard this strange story, went into their store and made a small purchase of drugs, in order to obtain a view of this strange couple. He found them both in the store. The husband may be some twenty-eight or thirty years of age, but does not look older than a man of twenty-five. His figure is

SLIGHT AND WELL KNIT.

His height is about five feet five inches, and his weight may be 130 or 140 pounds. His hair is a wavy brown, almost black, and he wears a neat little moustache but no beard, though his "chin new-reaped showed like a stuble field in harvest time." His features are regular and pleasing; eyes dark and mouth small and firm. The face is not that of a woman, but of a keen, active, and cultivated man. His wife (or her wife, as the reader may prefer) is about 26 or 27, very young looking, with an abundance of blonde hair and very sweet dark blue eyes. She seemed very fond of her husband, and followed his every motion with her eyes, never speaking to him without addressing him as "dear." Their life, according to the neighbors, is an uninterrupted honeymoon.

Odds and Ends.

The New York College rules require the students to labor on the farm three hours each day, and there are some forty or fifty of them being instructed in the practice as well as in the scientific theory of farm drainage.

The figures of trade between the United States and France, foots up annually $27,-436,337. The greater part of the expense comes under the head of works of art, trimmings, fancy goods and watches, artificial flowers and feathers, furnishing goods, kid gloves, jewelry, etc., laces, merinos, liquors, wines, musical instruments, silks, toilet articles, etc.

The most remarkable engineering feat now in progress is the crossing of the Andes by the Lima and Oroya Railroad. On this road the mountain chain will be crossed at an altitude of fifteen thousand feet by a tunnel three thousand feet in length, and amid perpetual snow. The work is being accomplished by the Cholos Indians, the only workmen who can endure the rarity of the atmosphere at this elevation for a prolonged period.

Lunch for the Ladies.

"Dear me! how heartily tired I am of this mourning!" said a fashionable lady to her maid. "Jane, who is it I am in mourning for?"

A young lady recently wrote to H. G. asking him for the best remedy for dandruff. He replied by saying: "Go West, young woman, go West, and apply to some frisky tribe of Indians. They remove dandruff by a simple remedy and warrant it never to return."

A young gentleman of Cass county, was playing at hay making with a rural Maud Muller, and rather liked it until a swarm of yellow jackets crawled up his nankeen trowsers. Maud laughed heartily at the Irish jig he danced, until she got "some of it in her'n."

WANT OF VITALITY.—If a deficiency of vital energy is not a disease in itself it is a condition which lays the system open to the attacks of all conceivable maladies. Night and day we are surrounded more or less by deleterious influences. No atmosphere is entirely pure, no water utterly free from injurious porticles; while in many localities both are positively unwholesome. What defence has the weak, languid system, in which the vital principle is deficient or dormant, against, any of the morbid influences which produce epidemic and other diseases? None whatever. There is no safety save in artificial reinforcements. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have, beyond all question, a vitalizing effect. If the nervous forces of the body have been recklessly expended in exhausting physical or mental labor, or dissipated in the indulgences of a "fast" life, this powerful vegetable tonic and corrective will restore them. If the defective vitality is a constitutional evil it can be remedied to a great extent by this wonderful invigorant. At a season of the year when the air is more or less impregnated with the seeds of periodic fevers, it is especially desirable that the digestion should be perfect, the habit of body regular, the liver active, the blood pure and the nerves firm. These conditions are the best protection against all disorders, and they are conditions which the Bitters are better adapted than any other medicinal agent to promote and secure. See to it, however, that no imitation or counterfeit is substituted for the genuine article, and let all who value health and have an antipathy to poson beware of the local bitters made from condemned drugs and vilely adulterated alcohol, which have sprung up like unwholesome fungi all over the country. aug27-deod1w&w1t.

BACHELORS' HAIR DYE.—This superb Hair Dye is the best in the world—perfectly harmless, reliable and instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints or disagreeable odor. The genuine Wm. A. Batchelor's Hair Dye produces immediately a splendid black or natural brown, leaves the hair clean, soft, beautiful; does not contain a particle of lead or any injurious compound. Sold by all druggists. Factory, 16 BOND STREET, New York. oct2—d1y

PIMPLES, ERUPTIONS, ROUGH SKIN.—The system being put under the influence of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Disovery for a few weeks, the skin becomes smooth, clear, soft and velvety, and being illuminated with the glow of perfect health from within, true beauty stands forth in all its glory. Nothing ever presented to the public as a beautifier of the complexion ever gave such satisfaction for this purpose as this Discovery. The effects of all medicines which operate upon the system through the medium of the blood are necessarily somewhat slow, no matter how good the remedy employed. While one to three bottles clear the skin of pimples, blotches, eruptions, yellow spots, come-dones or "grubs," a dozen may possibly be required to cure some cases where the system is rotten with scrofulous or virolent blood poisons. The cure of all these diseases, however, from the common pimple to the worse scrofula, is with the use of this most potent agent, only a matter of time. Sold by all druggists. aug27-deod1w&w1t.

MASKS AND FACES.—Ladies who mask their faces and necks with enamels endanger their health to no purpose. The plaster work deceives nobody. There is but one article known which will restore a blemished complexion or create external brilliancy and bloom where they have never heretofore existed, and that article is Hagan's Magnolia Balm. It performs that toilet miracle by infusing vitality into the skin. The floral and herbal juices of which it is composed gently stimulate the circulation in the minute blood vessels, and brace the netword of nerves through which they pass. Thus quickened and strengthened the external covering soon acquires a fresh and healthful hue, and every trace of sallowness disappears. The palest cheeks derive from the beautifying baptism of this delightful cosmetic a warmer hue, and the arms, hands and neck, a blonde lustre which the charlatans, who profess to make ladies "beautiful forever" with their poisonous cement, can never hope to imitate. aug27-deod1w&w1t.

LAUGHTER LENDS A NEW CHARM TO beauty, when it discloses a pretty set of teeth. Whiteness, when nature has supplied this element of loveliness, may be retained through life, by using the fragrant Sozodont. aug27-deod1w&w1t.

The Great South American

JURUBEBA

BLOOD PURIFIER.

It is not a physic which may give temporary relief to the sufferer for the first few doses, but which, from continued use brings Piles and kindred diseases to aid in weakening the invalid, nor is it a doctored liquor, which, under the popular name of "Bitters" is so extensively palmed off on the public as sovereign remedies. but it is a most powerful Tonic and alterative, pronounced so by the leading medical authorities of London and Paris, and has been long used by the regular physicians of other countries with wonderful remedial results.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

retains all the medical virtues peculiar to the plant and must be taken as a permanent curative agent.

Is there want of action in your Liver and Spleen! Unless relieved at once, the blood becomes impure by deleterious secretions, producing scrofulous or skin diseases, Blotches, Felons, Pustules, Canker. Pimples, etc., etc.

Take JURUBEBA to clense, purify and restore the vitiated blood to healthy action.
